✠ Θεόδωρος Β΄ Πατριάρχης Αλεξανδρίας και Πατριάρχης Αιθιοπίας

Most Noble Exarchs and Members of the Exarchates of Finland and Greece of the Order of Saint Constantine the Great.

Sixty five years have passed since some very respected men, among them the Late Irinaios, Metropolitan of Kissamou and Selinou (Crete) founded the Order of Saint Constantine the Great.

They chose the year 1953 in commemoration of the 500 years since the Fall of Constantinople in 1453.

The Order operated initially with a group of Knights in Helsinki and one in Athens. Over the years, several other groups of Knights were created in other countries.

In 1978, in Finland and in Greece, in addition to the Groups of Knights in Helsinki and Athens, several other Groups were founded that formed the Exarchates of Finland and Greece.

Thus, today with God's help, we are celebrating the 40 years since the foundation of the two first Exarchates of our Order.

My Beloved Members of the Order of Saint Constantine the Great, please accept my warmest congratulations and heartfelt wishes for the continuation of your God-beloved work, for which may God continue to bless you.

CEREMONY OF DUBBING,
CONSECRATION AND INVESTITURE
IN GREECE

On Saturday, June 2, 2018, the Hellenic Exarchate organized the annual meeting of its members, with its main subjects being the dubbing, consecration and investiture of new Knights and Ladies of the Order, as well as the celebration of the 40th anniversary of the Exarchate.

Among our visitors, was a very good friend of the Hellenic Exarchate, the former Chancellor of the Order, Confrere Jurgen Schumacher.

On the occasion of this anniversary, commemorative medals, as well personalized diplomas, were created, for each Member of the Exarchate.

According to tradition the event took place at the Yacht Club of Greece, which is for all the members of the Exarchate their second home.

Following the agenda, the event started with the blessing, given by the representative of His Holy Beatitude Patriarch of Alexandria, Theodoros II, Reverend Archimandrite Athanassios.

Then, three different Confreres read:

- a. Two paragraphs from Apostle's Pavlos first letter, to the Corinthians
- b. How and when Constantine the Great saw on the sky the "ΕΝΤΟΥΤΩΝΙΑ»
- c. The Creed.

After that, the new Bailies, Manoudakis Evangelos and Kavalis Anastasios of Bailiwick of Piraeus "Captain Flantanelas" and Bailiwick of Laconia "Constantinos Paleologos", respectively, gave their oath.

Subsequently, Confrere G. Haramis, as representative of the Master, proceeded to the dubbing, consecration and investiture of one(1) Knight (Leonidas Chelmis) and four (4) Ladies of the Order ( Ekaterina Charvalos, Adamantia Karmiri, Vassileia Katsani and Maya Skronia – Togonidze), according with the Hellenic ritual.

After that, as part of the ritual, the Exarch of the Hellenic Exarchate, Knight Vassilis Yannakakos KCCM, gave an admonitory and enlifthening speech on the Order.

The investiture, followed by the award of honorary discrimination, in which Confrere Jurgen Schumacher, was invited to take part.

Afterward, Confrere George Haramis, as Representative of HB the Patriarch in OCM and Ambassador of OCM to the Patriarchate, read the message of HB the Patriarch, for the 40th anniversary of the Exarchates of Greece and Finland.

Next, as Former Exarch, Confrere Haramis gave the day's speech, conserning the Hellenic Exarchate's 40th Anniversary.

Just after, the former Chancellor of the Order, Confrere Jurgen Shumacher, gave us a greeting, saying a big enough part of it in Greek.

A greeting also, as well as the blessing of His Holy Beatitude gave us the Patriarch's representative Reverend Archimandrite Athanassios.

As always, the whole ceremony ended with the Anthem of the Order, the Patriarchal Acclamation, and the Hellenic National Anthem.

At the Buffet Dinner which followed, were more than a hundered and sixty persons, (Knights, Ladies of the Order, as well as many friends and relatives), who tasted the exquisite Greek menu of the Chef of the Yacht Club.

During the dinner, the Exarch, gave to the members of the Exarchate, the commemorative diplomas and medals.

EXARCH OF THE HELLENIC EXARCHATE VASSILLIOS YANNAKAKOS'S SPEECH

Your eminence, representative of Patriarch,
Honorable representative of the Patriarch in the Order,
Your Excellency, former Chancellor of the Order, Knights and Ladies of the Order,
Dear guests

Previously, you heard by the Grand Officer of the Order of the Confrere Lefteris Fonazakis, the history of the Saxa Roumbra (Red Stone) battle of Constantine the great.

In accordance with the traditions, this glorious Order, founded by the Emperor Constantine the great, immediately after this battle, the year 312, during which he definitively defeated his opponent Emperor Maxentius, in memory of the divine miracle, of the developing namely unto the sky, a Cross bearing the inscription: " EN TOYTO NIKA". This event, pushed Constantine to become a faithful Christian, and unto reward the bravery and dedication many of his soldiers

In memory of this event, the Emperor ordered them to engrave on their armor a red cross.

Among others then activities of Constantine, prominently held the promotion of education. He ordered the careful and frequent reading of the Scriptures in all churches and gave the 1/4 of his revenue for the relief of the poor and numerous other similar projects. Because of this, his memory will remain lime unto the mind of all Christians through the centuries.

So the origins of our Order, are not only ancient, but are also a very honest institution of Christian Chivalry. So it is our duty, Knights and Ladies of the order, to greatly appreciate the privileges that we inherited from those worthy men.

That is precisely, why the Glorious Founder of our Order, now considered as our symbolic PATRON.

Obvious of course is that our order has nothing to do with anachronistic and unrealistic old "Chivalry type" Order. But we have as purpose, the revival of the Ecumenical Spirit of our ancestors, both ancient Greeks and Byzantines.

Since then, have been established many Orders dedicated to Saint Constantine, (as and to other Saints), under different auspices. Many of them, however, are not “normally”, since an Order, as we know, is considered normal as long as it is under the auspices of one of the four Patriarchates (Constantinople, Alexandria, Antioch and Jerusalem), or the Vatican or an Emperor.

Now I turn to the new members of the Order:

Knight Leonida, and Ladies of the order Basileia, Maya, Adamantia and Catherine:

During your investiture and just after receiving the cross of Constantine, I urged you to be Prudent, Wise and Brave When you observe these virtues, you will be guided by them:

Prudence, to act by thinking first logically and with restraint and not engage in extreme actions.

Wisdom, to have good judgment, so as to avoid errors, unpleasant and dangerous situations, and Bravery, for experiencing risks or adversities, without cowardice, showing at the same time, courage and high moral.

I welcome to our Order and I urge you to honor your oath, being a vibrant and active cell in your Bailiwicks and by extension the Hellenic Exarchate, for the fruition its objectives

The member of the Government of the Order, Confrère Elesterios Fonazakis, reading the history of the Saxa Roubra battle.

FORMER EXARCH OF THE HELLENIC EXARCHATE GEORGE HARAMIS'S SPEECH

Your eminence
Your Excellency Confrere Jurgen Schumacher
Ladies and Gentlemen
Ladies of the Order
Confrères Knights

This year, we celebrate the 40th anniversary since the foundation of the Hellenic Exarchate.

In these 40 years the Hellenic Exarchate (and its Bailiwicks in various regions of Greece):

had several events dedicated to the memory of Byzantium provided through the Government of the Order moral and material support to the Patriarchate of Alexandria supported charity actions mainly in orphanages in Greece and Africa.

In the beginning the Exarchate had the valuable support from the founders of the Order and mainly from Late Metropolitan of Kissamou Irinaios, the memorable late Duke and Prince of Beaufort Spontin and Baron Yrjö von Grönhagen

Now I will say a few words about the beginning of the Exarchate.

In the very beginning, as executives were the memorable John Papamichalakis Great Archon of our Patriarchate, Spyros Kamalakis Great benefactor and Great Archon of our Patriarchate, George Charamis, the memorable Nick Anagnostopoulos assisted by Elefterios Fonazakis, Dimitris Smokovitis, Anestis Constantinidis and the memorable Constantine Tramvalidis.

As regards to the Exarchs, from 1980 to 1985 the first Exarch was the memorable Professor and Academician Pericles Theocharis.

From 1985 to 1990, was the memorable Professor Orestes Louridis and from 1995 to 2016 George Charamis.

Since 2016, Exarch is the Vice Admiral Hellenic Navy (hon). Vassilis Yanakakos

As regards to the Bailiwicks:

The first two Bailiwicks were:

- Bailiwick of Athens "Saint Constantine and Saint Helen". The first Baili was the memorable John Papamichalakis

- Bailiwick of Piraeus “Captain Phladanelas” The first Baily was George Charamis.

Then followed the third, Bailiwick of Corfu “George Frangis”. The first Baily was Dinos Courcoumelis.

After many efforts of the Blessed Bishop of Kissamou and Selinou Irineos, the Bailiwick of Crete “Nikiforos Fokas” was founded, with first Baily the memorable General of the Hellenic Army, doctor, Spyridon Castanakis.

Then followed the foundation of the second Bailiwick in Athens “General Belissarius” of which first Baily was the memorable Constantine Tramvalidis.

Later on, the two Bailiwicks of Athens were joined in one, under the appellation “Emperor Ioustinianos” with first Baily General of the Hellenic Army, Dimitris Smokovitis.

Subsequently the Ladies’ Bailiwick “Empress Theodora” was founded, with first Baily Professor Elefterios Fonazakis followed by the Bailiwicks of Epirus, Thessalia, Greeks from Egypt living in Attica-Greece and last the Bailiwick of Laconia “Constantine Palaiologos” with first Baily, the recent Exarch Vassilis Yannakakos.

Last the Bailiwick of Themopylae “Vassilefs Leonidas” with first and current Baily the Confrère Aris Sklavaniotis.

The Exarchate participated in all the International Sessions of the Order and successfully organized 4 World Sessions: one in Corfu, one in Crete and two in Athens.

Also in Athens was organized in 2003 by the Greek Exarchate the International Session for the 50 years of the Order.

I must add that during these 40 years prominent members of the Hellenic Exarchate have served and still serve the Central Administration of the Order. I mention Spyros Kamalakis, who served as Secretary General of the Order’s Government, the memorable Aris Ploritis and Jacob Economidis who served as vice Chancellors of the Government, Professor Constantine Papadreu who served for 15 years as Chairman of the Council, to whom I wholeheartedly wish, to overcome his health problems. Since 2010 Confrère Elefterios Fonazakis also serves as member of the Government of the Order.

It would be a big omission if I don’t mention the memorable Confrère Stelios Kandarakis, who for more than 20 years was the Treasurer of the Exarchate and who accomplished his thankless task always with a smile, love and with success.

Not wanting to abuse more your patience, I wish for our memorable Confrères to rest in peace, and also to wish for all of us to be healthy, and all together to celebrate and the 50 years of the Hellenic Exarchate.

Thank you.

40-YEARS ANNIVERSARY MEETING of the HELLENIC EXARCHATE

Πανοσιολογιωτατε Αρχιμανδριτη Αθανασιε,
Σεβαστε πρεσβευτη κυριε Γιωργο Χαραμη,
Σεβαστε εξαρχε κυριε Βασιλη Γιαννακακο,
Σεβαστοι ιπποτες,
Αγαπητοι φιλοι, κυριες και κυριοι,

Παρακαλω δεχθητε τας πλεον θερμας ευχαριστιας του Μαγιστερου
Δουκα Friedrich von Beaufort-Spontin και της Κυβερνησης του Ταγματος.

Χαιρομαι πολυ που ειμαι εδω στον Πειραια αναμεσα σε καλους φιλους. Πρεπει να ομολογησω οτι η γνωση μου της ελληνικης γλωσσας ειναι ανεκαθεν περιορισμενη. Λοιπον, πρεπει να συνεχισω στα αγγλικά.

Even six years have gone by, since I last joined an official event του ελληνικου ταγματος του αγιου Κωνσταντινου του Μεγαλου. That is a long time, and -- meanwhile some things have changed inside the Hellenic Exarchate.

However, above all I am happy to be here and to share with you some pleasant, and hopefully also beneficial moments. Looking around I am glad to see good friends, whom I have met several times before here in Piraeus and Athens, some of them also in Finland, in Sweden, and in Austria.

But sorry to notice: some are also missing. I think we all know the reasons well enough, wherefore there is no idea to discuss the case at this very moment.

Regarding this, however, παρακαλω, allow me to put my personal thoughts into some hopeful words: there will be always personal dispute between human beings, for what ever reason. That almost belongs to human life. But disputes can be solved, and must be solved, in a fair and human way, sometimes necessarily by help of an indifferent and wiser mediator. Usually disputes also leave some wounds to one or two or even more people. That's life, too.

Οι γιατροί λενε: τα τραυματα συνηθιζουν να επουλωνουν.

However, what never should happen, is, that a personal dispute leaves wounds to an entire organization. The fact is, of course, that for a while we even have to live with such situation. But, fortunately, as we have seen today, we are going on to experience better times.

I should like to take this opportunity to express my heartiest congratulations to the Hellenic Exarchate, which now celebrates its 40-years anniversary. I wish all responsible officers, and all members of the exarchate, dames and knights, to be dedicated to the Ecumenical Christian values of our Order and to the obligation to our charity work for the benefit of the Patriarchate of Alexandria. I have faith in all of you, that in the next few years the Hellenic Exarchate will prosper again !

In this sense I should like to point my word also to the new Greek dames and knight quoting the idea of our Grandmaster: "chivalry is a lifelong commitment".

You have become members of the Ordo Sancti Constantini Magni upon consideration from your side, from the point of those, who have supported your membership, and finally through the decision of the Grandmaster. The oath of knighthood you have just given, may oblige you.

My congratulation to you.

Let me close as always:

The meaning of chivalry is to behave chivalrously towards our fellow beings.

Ευχαριστω για την θαυμασια φιλοξενια σας και για την ιπποτικη παρεα σας.

SPEECH of the GRANDMASTER at the 40-YEARS ANNIVERSARY of the EXARCHATE of FINLAND in TURKU 26.5.2018

Esteemed honorary members of the Order,
Exarch of the jubilant Exarchate of Finland,
Knights of the OCM,
Ladies and gentlemen,

Starting my today's speech I would like to remember a very personal event in June 1998.

Nearly 20 years ago I came to Finland for the first time and attended the international convention of the OCM in Helsinki. Then I was enthroned Master of the Order under guidance of the late Yrjö von Grönhagen and with blessings of the late Patriarch Petros VII. I may assure you, that I remember very well that moment, when I, so to speak, was appointed from the middle of my professional life to the head of this worthy chivalric Order. Since then I have had the pleasure to visit your beautiful country several times, due to meetings of the Finnish exarchate or international events, and, of course, meetings of the executive of the OCM, which is based in Finland since more than 20 years, and in which I have complete faith.

Today we are gathered in festive atmosphere to celebrate the 40th anniversary of the Exarchate of Finland here in Turku. Since many years the membership of the Finnish exarchate has been constantly high, thus making it the strongest and reliable unit of the OCM, with which I have all reason to be completely satisfied. So, on occasion of this festive anniversary I like to express warm words of thanks to all members and all ladies of the exarchate, for your commitment to the aims of the Order. I have faith in all of you, that the Exarchate of Finland will prosper also in future years.

I am delighted to see here many members and honorary members I have met already earlier, and surely I will also make some new acquaintances. Anyway, all conditions for a friendly get-to-gather are well prepared. For this the Bailiwick of Turku has taken much responsibility and deserves my personal thanks.

As pleasant and festive as international and also national meetings of the OCM always are organized, I know, that always also the question of the costs for such a short weekend is coming up. And I fully understand, that such subjects are discussed especially at homes, which are located from afar the meeting place. Therefore it is my concern to give my regards also to those members, who, for what ever reason, did not have the opportunity to attend this anniversary meeting of the Finnish exarchate. As it should be: the work for the aims of the chivalric Order of Saint Constantine the Great in the field of Christianity and ecumenism and of charity is done in the regional bailiwicks and personally by every dame and knight of the Order.

I believe, chivalry is a lifelong commitment – independently how often one joins in a national or international big event.

In this sense I am pleased to express my warm congratulations to the Exarchate of Finland at this 40-years anniversary meeting.

SUCCESSFUL AND SUNNY CONVENTION IN TURKU

Annual national convention of the Finnish Exarchate of OCM took place this year on May 25th to 27th in Turku. Same time were celebrated the 40th anniversaries of both the Exarchate and the Bailiwick of Varsinais-Suomi. Successful event of three days was crowned with exceptionally beautiful and warm spring weather. Master of the Order, Prince of Beaufort-Spontin and his spouse honoured the occasion with their presence.

The weekend was opened with a public concert given at Turku Cathedral by Chev. Kalevi Kiviniemi (organ) and Chev. Jukka Pietilä (song) as well as Chorus Iucundis – choir led by Timo Lehtovaara. Program which gave a special honour to national composer Jean Sibelius led the happy audience to continue the evening with a get together party at Restaurant Hus Lindman in the neighbourhood of the Cathedral. Everybody was able to enjoy delicious supper and lively discussion until late night.

The second day started with a morning service at the Orthodox Church of St Alexandra. Also transport of the weekend was tested, and everything went well after some minor problems and misunderstandings in the beginning. After the service ladies were able to have their program according to the schedule. Together with Chev. Hannu Konola and his Lady Kaisa they headed to the Ecumenical Art Chapel. The St Henry's Ecumenical Art Chapel located on Hirvensalo island in Turku is run by members from eight different churches and denominations. It offers a space not only for ecclesial services but also for arts – images, melodies, words. Architecture of the Art Chapel is a piece of art itself, including all the details, an impressive voyage from darkness towards light.

Same time with ladies' program knights gathered for the General Assembly of the OCM Finland at the auditorium of the Hotel Caribia. The meeting went smoothly as Chev. Arno Leino was chairing it, and all the decisions were made unanimously. In the end of the Assembly the Exarchate Crosses were distributed. For the end of Saturday morning a delicious lunch was served. During the lunch Master of the Order gave a speech and a grant of Aimo T Nikolainen Foundation was given to Doctor of Theology Panu Pihkala.

After the lunch program continued with a special "Knightly Forum", with a theme "Values of OCM and Knightly Oath". Discussion was chaired by Vice Exarch Tuomas Kinberg and as discussants were Chev. Hans-Olof Kvist, Chev. Mika Pynnönen and Chev. Aarno Yrjö-Koskinen. Lively discussion with lots of interesting points of view had too little time, but there will be opportunities to continue it in other occasions in the future. After the Forum for the first time were distributed the Lady Medals of the Exarchate of Finland followed by afternoon coffee.

The Saturday program was crowned with the Investiture. Could there be in Finland any better place for this ceremony than our national shrine, the Cathedral of Turku? Under the centuries old vaults the Investiture and rewardings by the Master of the Order certainly was an unforgettable moment for all the participants. The inspiring speech of the Investiture was given by Dean of the Cathedral, Rev. Heimo Rinne. After the Investiture the group photo was taken on the stairs of the Cathedral. Also some of the Bailiwicks took their own memorial photos. Then it was already a good moment to go to the festive dinner at Hotel Caribia, where the evening continued with good food, some program and lively conversation.

The last day of the Convention began with a moment of silence at Military Heros' monument, where Chev. Osmo Suominen gave a speech. He reminded everybody about the offer Finland had given during the latest wars, and said for example: "More can no single person give than what these heros have given to their native country. When we say in this way, we don't mean admiring the war itself, or that giving one's life in the war would be the only right way to serve the fatherland. But in the historical moment of the last wars we had to defend everything we value in the western civilized country. Therefore those offers taken by wars are worth of our highest respect, have been it yesterday, are today and will be tomorrow”.

A wreath was layed on the monument by Exarch Erkko Kajander accompanied by the Chancellor of Order and the Bailie of Turku, Chev. Kimmo Sainio.

After a short break the Convention ended with an ecumenical Divine Service at the Resurrection Chapel. Lady Marja Kalajoki told about the Chapel. Liturgy was presided by Chev. Jorma Kalajoki and sermon was given by Chev Erkki Marttinen. The sermon was based on the Gospel of the day, Matthew 28:16-20. ” The Trinity Sunday, hidden God, God who has revealed Himself. The Church is living here between. We should understand God and even proclaim it to all the world, as we just heard Jesus has us commissioned. I guess we all know the Bible story of the burning bush. Moses keeps asking God, who He is. And he receives an answer: “I am who I am” and “I am” (Ex. 3:14). One specialist in Hebrew language said, that God’s answer in fact is: I am what I’m proved to be at any given time. Well known pastor and author who already has passed away, Juhani Rekola in one of his books lets a Jewish prisoner of concentration camp to speak in following way: God, you make everything that we wouldn't believe in you. But although you make it difficult, I still believe one hundred percent. We are used to speak and listen such proclamation, that God reveals himself in different ways. The most known word of Christian proclamation might be Gospel, message of joy about God or from God. When I heard those words by Jewish rabbi, I thought: that's true too, perhaps even more than we usually think. In Christian way of speaking we express it in a bit different way. We say that God hides himself".

Marttinen finished his sermon with following words: " We have been called to carry out God's will in our own neighborhood, to spread the sweet savour of Christ (2. Cor. 2:14-15). Even if our own smell sometimes is mixed to it, the goal is same. One way is our activity in this Order: to promote the unity between people and churches, respect towards each other, to listen more than answer, to help children in Africa and youth in our own country. Apostle Paul says about parish, that you are Christ's epistle and companions of God in work. Can we have any better and bigger job? May the Holy Triune God help us in this."
