Chevaliers and Dames

When the Ordo Constantini Magni was grounded in 1950s its main duty was to help young people recovering after the terrible World War II. The idea was to facilitate all kind of education. Since that all exarchates of the order have been active in this field. I think that this work has been very important. We have had a fantasy, that this is enough. The world has learned to live in peace. Unfortunately, we live, again, an era with war even in Europe. This means that all kind of charitable work is needed. We have to be active and try to find ways to help those who need help. A very good example of this is the work in Norway. The exarchate has organized a direct “help line” to Ukraine. I suppose that all members in our order should follow this activity. In Finland the exarchate is organizing a system to help the outcasts youngsters. This might be a great help for those girls and boys.

I do remind you that the next International Convention will be organized in Greece in 2027. I hope that this meeting will be an active forum for creating new ideas for charitable work in our Order.

I wish everyone a beautiful summer.

Knighting Days of the Finnish Exarchate in Vaasa 16-18.5.2025

The Bailiwick of Pohjanmaa invited knights and their spouses to celebrate Knighting Days on the west coast of Finland in Vaasa.

Friday, May 16, was reserved for accommodation and free self-guided exploration of Vaasa.

Saturday, May 17, was full of activities. The day began with the annual meeting of Finnish Exarchate in the Crypt of the Vaasa Church. During the annual meeting, the avec visit was directed to the Tikanoja Art Home, where was an art exhibition by Eero Järnefelt.

After this, lunch was served at the restaurant VENNI in the Rewell-Center, in the same building where the hotel accommodation was also located. All the party venues were compactly located within a few hundred meters of the accommodation.

From the lunch, we were able to move directly to the beautiful banquet hall of Vaasa City Hall, where the day celebration was taking place. The Balie of Bailiwick of Pohjanmaa had chosen the theme of the day as "Bridge Builders", which referred to connection and creating connections. The first speech of the day celebration was given by the Minister for European Affairs and Ownership Steering Joakim Strand. He spoke about creating connections and its significance in concrete terms.

Professors of theology Jyrki Knuutila and Antti Räsänen spoke together about the birth of the NIKEA confession of faith, in connection with the NIKEA 325th anniversary.

The Bailie of Bailiwick of Pohjanmaa Kari Hietamäki was responsible for the arrangements for the Knights' Day in Vaasa

The musical gift to the celebration was brought by classical guitar maestro Veikko Siponkoski. The day celebration was concluded with festive coffees in the mirror hall of the City Hall.

The knight promotion was held in the Vaasa church. It was once again festive, as no fewer than 18 new aspirants were promoted and promotions and merit badges were awarded in the traditional manner. The greetings of the Finnish parish of Vaasa were brought to the promotion by the vicar Teijo Peltola.

After the promotion it was taken a group photo in Vasa church, and after that we moved on to the gala dinner. During the dinner, we enjoyed organist Jimi Järvinen's accordion playing and the wonderful singing performances of Lisa Dumchieva, who had fled the war in Ukraine. During the evening party, we heard the new knight's acceptance speech, given by Dame Sirpa Tirri. The actual speech was given by Exarch Erkki Kajander and the acceptance speech by Chancellor Toivo Salmi. At the end of the evening, we received an invitation to the next Knighting Days 2026 in Åland.

On Sunday, we participated Memorial Day service for those who fell in wars, from which wreath patrols were sent to lay wreaths at the cemetery at the monument to the war fallen heroes. The OCM-Konstantinus Association also laid its own wreath solemnly along with other wreath-laying members.

The Knights' Day organized by the Bailiwick of Pohjanmaa ended with a church coffee in the church crypt after the service.

The total number of participants in the Knighting Days was 90 people.

Kari Hietamäki, the Bailie of Bailiwick of Pohjanmaa, expresses warm thanks on behalf of the Bailiwick of Pohjanmaa to everyone who participated in the Vaasa Knights' Day.

Greetings from OCM office

In August, it will be five years since I took over the duties of OCM Secretary General. The situation was difficult, my predecessor was seriously ill, and the person to whom he was supposed to hand over was not willing to act in this position after a short acquaintance with the matter. On top of all that, the previous Secretary General Jorma Ahonen passed away during the orientation to the position. I apologize if some things have not been as they should have been right away, there has been a lot to learn here. In addition, other busy things have slowed things to do down from time to time.

The International Government is currently working on a number of things that we hope will make it easier to operate and communicate between member countries. One important innovation in this regard is the modernization of the web pages. By adding links, we hope to improve the flow of information, and we also hope to offer more opportunities to participate in events also outside of your own country. This project is led by Chairman of the Council Leif Syrstad.

One of our problems (if it is considered such) is the age structure of the membership. It can be seen, for example, on the CN "We congratulate" page. Of course, we are constantly getting new younger members, but there should be many more of them. I was very pleased when, at the Knighting Days of the Finnish Exarchate, we received 18 new knights, 3 of whom were dames. This membership problem is perhaps most concrete in our small member countries, such as the Czech Republic and Germany. In addition, it would be desirable that everyone in Central European countries would recruit their new members mainly from their own country. This way, no one would be deprived of the opportunity to get members interested in our cause.

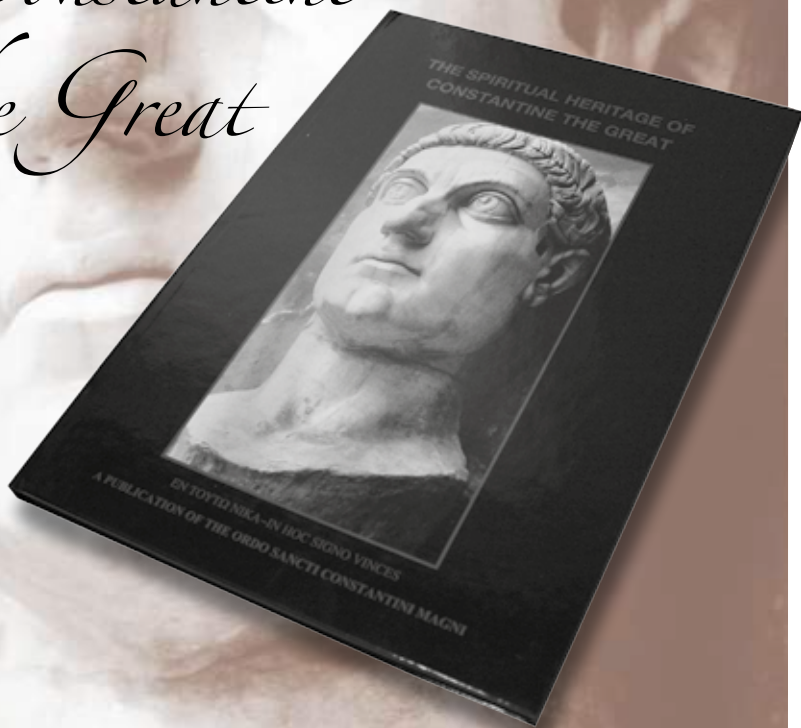

As the Chancellor writes elsewhere in this CN, "When the Ordo Constantini Magni was grounded in the 1950s its main duty was to help young people recovering after the terrible World War II." Today we live again in a world where the ongoing military operations in Europe also threaten to escalate to affect the whole world. That is why it is important that we all keep the roots of our Order clearly in mind. Of course, no one hopes that the situation will change even worse, rather the opposite. But all the same - the OCM Order has a mission in time. It is more important than we may think in the hustle and bustle of everyday life.

Finally, I would like to thank all the Exarchates and Bailiwicks and their members for the work you do. It is summer now, and it is time to recharge our batteries. Therefore, I would like to inform you that the OCM office will be closed from 7 July to 8 August.

I wish everyone a good, peaceful and relaxing summer

Osmo Suominen, KCCM, Secretary-General
